Program may cure Lake Shore woes

In an attempt to cut down on the rate of vandalism at Lake Shore Junior High School, Lake Shore Principal Tom Busbee said this week a person will soon be living on campus.

"Operation Vandal", which Busbee said was suggested by the school system, calls for a mobile home to be moved on the northeast corner of the campus.

"The resident would be moved in," Busbee said, "and his job would be surveillance. About 10 per cent of the campus can be seen from this location but we'll install cameras that will allow the resident to cover about 60 per cent of the campus."

He said he wasn't sure whose idea the surveillance home was, but once he heard about it, he gave it his full endorsement. In returning for reporting any break-ins, the resident would pay no lot rent and would have water and sewer furnished.

The Belle Glade City Commission granted a temporary permit for the mobile home Monday night, in spite of an earlier decision to refuse all such requests, when Busbee said the mobile home would use the school's water and system.

"We've been trying to crank this up for some time," Busbee said. "We've actually been working on the vandalism from two angles."

He said the trailer should provide a deterrent, especially since the occupant will be able to hear all critical areas in the school.

The problem is also being attacked by giving the students more responsibility and pride in their school. Part of this is the setting up of a viable student government with legislative and judicial powers, emphasizing peer influence.

In the past, Busbee, who was appointed interim principal last summer, said students have approached him personally to request the students be allowed to hold dances and other functions.

"Now," he said, "I tell them to go to their representatives. All of this means we don't have an autocracy any more. We have democracy and hopefully, it's teaching them more than responsibility."

Busbee said he isn't really sure how much vandalism takes place at Lake Shore compared to other schools in the area but said someone must think the rate is high. He have thought of offering the school the plan.

He said the school system is currently setting up an inventory system which will allow the schools to pin down rapidly the exact loss during any vandalism.

The problem in the past, he said, has been that most schools don't really know what they have so when a vandalism is reported, it's hard to determine what has been taken.

"I do know that as of the first part of this year," he said, "there has been less vandalism here than last year but it is increasing."

Busbee said he has already found two people, one a school system employee and the other a city employee, who have expressed interest but no one has been selected yet.

If the surveillance system were already selected, Busbee said he had been informed the system could be put in operation by Dec. 20.

"We don't really know how all of this is going to work out," he said, "and we won't know until it's been in for a while and we've had a chance to compare it. We hope it will help though."

Probation, suspension possible

Riot probe continues

Repercussions from the incident at the Glades Central-Chaminade playoff football game Friday in Hollywood are still spreading with investigations by several agencies still going on.

Hollywood Police Captain Robert Mowers said his force is investigating the incident partially because the four police officers hospitalized in the riot.

An informal hearing into the matter was held earlier this week by West Area Superintendent of Education James Maynor and Glades Central Principal Charles McCurdy mailed a report Tuesday to Florida Activities Association Director Floyd Lay.

McCurdy said Chaminade Principal Irving R. Panciera will also probably make a report to Lay. Lay will also hear from police as Capt. Mowers said he intends to send a letter of protest over the incident.

"We're making attempts to identify some of the people involved," Mowers said. He indicated aggravated assault charges could be brought against some Glades Central football players.

"I have one officer with a broken bone over his eye," he said, "and one officer was unconscious for over an hour from being beaten with football helmets."

He said the Hollywood Police Department was unprepared for the violence, saying the fact it took place on a Friday night, when the department is already busy, meant he had to use every officer available.

"It was an outrageous situation," Mowers declared. "I've never seen anything like it at a football game. Eventually, it could mean the ruin of high school sports, if this kind of thing keeps up."

Mowers said he had heard the situation had been reported on as far away as New York City, being carried in the New York Times.

"We're not out to crucify anyone," Mowers said, "and nothing may come of it but I can't understand grownups acting this way over a football game."

Mayers said his investigation, which is still continuing, is aimed primarily at finding out exactly what happened, what might be done to prevent similar occurrences in the future and who was to blame, if that can be determined.

He said his investigation is separate from that of the activities association and no recommendations would be made to the association.

"If we have any recommendations," he said, "they'll be made to the school involved."

McCurdy said one item he included in his report to Lay was that there was insufficient police protection at the game. Police protection and crowd control is the responsibility of the home team, Chaminade.

McCurdy mailed the report he had compiled, based on what he had seen and from comments from other members of his staff, Tuesday.

Should Glades Central be found responsible, or partially responsible, for the incident by the activities association, there are several possible courses of action which could be taken against the school.

The school could simply receive a reprimand, be fined, put on probation or suspended from playing in future playoff games. One school official said the school could

Citizens to help on grant

The Belle Glade City Commission set dates Monday night for two public hearings and adopted a resolution setting up citizens participation in the spending of a $1.5 million grant.

The Community Development Grant, with a first year's payment of $467,000, is to be spent on a variety of community improvement projects and the city commission earlier appointed a committee to work with Aley and Associates in the planning.

The hearings, set for 8 p.m. on Jan. 15 and 16 at the city hall, are part of a requirement to involve citizens as a whole in the planning of what the grant money will be used for.

Before that, the Citizens Planning Advisory Committee, made up of a cross-section of Belle Glade residents representing the entire community, will be meeting with William Ross of Aley, who will go over the committee's recommendations with the city commission

Post office open Saturday

The Belle Glade Post Office will be open for business from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Saturday to help handle the Christmas rush of mailing according to Postmaster Kenneth Turner.

Turner said this Saturday would be the only weekend day this year the Post Office will be open during the Christmas season.

Ho hum!! What a drag!

No Christmas parade should be without a Santa Claus. Belle Glade's Christmas parade had one of the biggest Santa Clauses around in the parade above proven. But even a big Santa like that wasn't going to impress Belle Glade's Santa Claus. Only four months old—and this being his first Christmas parade—he acted like a bored veteran, killing nobody in his mother's arms. For more pictures of the parade and a complete story on what all went on, turn to our Home Front.

Sugar 'slam' untrue

Sugar officials are once again being forced to explain that $55 million of "subsidies" are actually conditional payments and represent a loan to the major sugar producer.

The question came up, as it often does at this time of year, when two Congressmen announced they are going to President Ford to ask him to cut off the "subsidies."

"At this point, it cannot be denied that both farmers and refiners are making enormous profits," Rep. Peter Pappas of New York and Sen. O. Conte of Massachusetts were quoted as saying in a wire story which appeared Tuesday morning in an area newspaper.

"It is particularly disturbing," the two Republicans were then quoted as saying, "that at the same time consumers are

It's turkey shooting time again as the Rotary Club of Belle Glade holds its second annual Christmas Turkey Shoot. A crying shame

It's a crying shame when high school students like Lester Finney are forced to show so-called adults how to act like adults.

It's a crying shame when high school students like Lester Finney are disgraced by the actions of their elders at a football game.

It's a crying shame when high school students like Lester Finney see everything their coaches have taught them about good sportsmanship and integrity thrown out the window at a sporting event.

It's a crying shame when high school students like Lester Finney work together as a team, beginning with spring practice, build an almost perfect record through a football season only to see it all taken away by a series of what could only be referred to as questionable calls made by officials whose decisions are absolutely beyond protest.

It's a crying shame when high school students like Lester Finney go through all that, then know that if they say a word about it in public, they run the risk of getting suspended from high school athletics.

It's such a crying shame, we'd probably weep tears of frustration too if what happened to Lester Finney and the other Raiders Friday night were to happen to us.

No wonder so many people are asking if, in the face of what happened, high school athletics are really worth having our young people hurt like that...and they were hurt every bit as much as the four officers who were hospitalized.

No wonder so many people are saying things like:

Get unauthorized people off the sidelines and keep them off.

Make sure adequate police protection is provided.

Take a second look at how officials are chosen to officiate games, particularly critical games such as state playoffs. If possible, get officials who live completely outside the area.

Then let's take a second look to see if it's all worthwhile.

One crying shame is enough to last a lifetime.

CRACKER CRUMBS

BY DEAN JONES

We were had. I was there. I saw it. To be brutally frank, the Lions didn't need a whole heck of a lot of help during the game. The Raiders, offense and defense, were making a lot of mistakes and Chaminade capitalized on them enough to go into the half with a 12-7 lead.

At the half, interestingly enough, the Raiders had "only" 35 yards in penalties. But when they came back to start the second half, the Glades Central players were hot. They often are. They've been a second-half team in more than one game this year.

In the second half, they collected 111 yards in penalties, several of which were totally uncalled for.

I was there. I saw it. On the other hand, I saw Anthony Burger piled on by not one or two but no fewer than four Chaminade players...after he had been hauled down. I was within 15 yards of it when it happened and so was the line judge, Robert Rehr.

Another time, I saw a face making and again Rehr was very close. No penalties were assessed either time. Both infractions occurred during the fourth quarter, after the Raiders had taken a 13-12 lead.

And when it came down to the critical pass interference call, which was called by Rehr if I remember right, I called it three plays earlier.

The Lions had the ball in Raider territory but too far away for a field goal attempt. It was first and ten and after the first play, a deep bomb down near the Raider goal line, failed, a Glades Central fan standing near me on the sideline pantomimed a heart attack.

"You ain't seen nothin' yet," I told him. "The next three plays are going to be the same thing and if no one catches the last pass, look for pass interference to be called."

And that's exactly what happened. I was there. I saw it. I'd also gotten there early enough to see the Chaminade placekicker, Tom Sexton, practice and I knew he would get the ball through the uprights if the Lions were placed anywhere near the goal. They were and he did.

And that's when it began. There was a knot of Glades Central fans along the sidelines, including Dean Charles Todd and Rehr was apparently trying to get them to move back.

I'd already started to walk away when I heard the argument break out and when I turned around, I saw Rehr push Todd and push him again before Todd apparently pushed him back.

That's when Rehr threw the first punch of the night. He threw it. There were no "two Glades Central fans" who attacked him.

I was there. I saw it. That's what triggered the first disturbance. Before I had a chance to get my camera up and into action, Rehr was surrounded by a group of yelling, pushing, slugging Raider fans.

I can understand how they felt. I don't go along with what they did but I can understand it. They were enraged and I can't say I blame them. It's hard to stand by and watch something, a television set, money or a football game, being stolen from you.

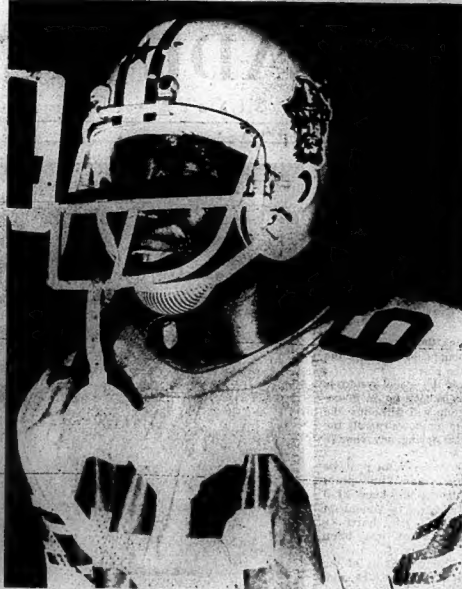

I'll say one thing, though. In that first jumble, not a single football was lost or injured.

With 15 seconds left on the clock, a good half-hour passed with different people trying to clear the sideline.

One of those people was Don Shula, whose son David, plays for Chaminade. Other included coaches, police and school officials. But for my money, the football players themselves were the most effective.

I saw players with tears in their eyes, begging the spectators to, "please get back. You can't

Dear Sir:

I have just attended the Belle Glade Christmas Parade. The theme was "The Sounds of Christmas". But what did we hear? Bells and motorcycles! Is this the sound of Christmas? Christmas Spirit tried to sing out, but like the Inn of old, Belle Glade had no room for the quiet sounds of angelic children's voices and the infant Christ Child.

Some of the floats went to a great deal of trouble to provide electricity for organs, but they might as well have fingered silent keys. The children probably could not even hear themselves singing or playing their instruments as they were completely drowned out by the band. The choir from GCI moved their "souls to heaven" and the "movers" roared.

"Hark! The Herald Angels Sing." But no one in Belle Glade could hear them. There is something sadly symbolic here. Every expression of Christmas was placed beside some noisy expression of mechanized materialism. Let us be thankful that God still hears the heart's silent prayer in spite of the clamor of our times, and pray that before Christmas Day

Dear Sir:

We wish to thank the following for their contribution to the preparation of our float that was first prize in the Christmas Parade on Saturday: The Belle Glade Herald, Glades Auxiliary, Glades Food and Supply, Cowart Industries, Somerville Supply, Sounds by Glenn, D.G. Herring, Cow's Point Store, The Elk's Club and Junior College.

A special thank to Pioneer Growers for sponsoring our float and to Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida for donating the prize money.

The wealth of sports news in The Belle Glade Herald the past two weeks has pushed aside a very important happening in any golfer's life—let alone a hacker (hee hee) like Grant Averill.

I'm just kidding Grant. Really, the demon of Ave. A. pushed one in the hole the other day with just one mighty stroke on his magic five iron.

It came on the tough no. 7 hole which is about a 180 yard swat. It's a difficult hole to get a par on, let alone a hole-in-one. The green is, they said, it is elevated. It is easy to hit the slippery green and then either into the sandtrap on the right or into the one on the left for that matter.

How many times have I—and Grant—been pushed or sliced one behind the trees on the right on the first stroke, removed the ball from behind the tree for a second stroke, chipped through the trees into the sand trap for a third stroke, blasted out of that sandtrap into the other sandtrap on the fourth stroke, finally fluffed it onto the green in five and three.

Put that on an eight? And I missed a stroke somewhere because I remember Bob White getting a nine on that hole once. Of course, that's to be expected from somebody who went to Florida State.

So what I'm trying to say Grant is, sorry your historic wallop has taken so long to see the light of print. But also, congratulations on a super shot on a really tough hole. Hope it doesn't take you over 15 years to get your next one.

In the past year, approximately 1000 boys between the ages of 13 and 17 have been adjudicated delinquents from various Judicial Circuits in South Florida and committed to the Florida School for Boys at Okeechobee.

Approximately 400 of these will spend Christmas in the institution away from their families and friends. The Women's Auxiliary at the Florida School for Boys at Okeechobee (composed of female staff and wives of employees) is attempting to see that each child is remembered at Christmas time.

If concerned individuals or groups will assist us by sending gifts suitable for boys in this age group, we will see that the gifts are presented on Christmas morning.

Knowing that "Somebody Cares" can be a tremendous value in our efforts to help troubled youth.

The Christmas parade should be a community project with such organizations as Rotary, Lions, and the Chamber of Commerce taking an active part in lending these hard working women a hand.

Well, it looks like my bet with Rep. Tom Lewis is good. He owes me a steak dinner—no doubt about it. There are no more bad feelings this year. The four-laning of State Rd. 50 will slip into 1975 still unbid and unworked upon.

Let us hope the ambassador's speech was not just a rhetorical coverup. The time came a long time ago for us to pull out at the United Nations.

The money we spend there would be better spent taking care of our own rather than the rest of the world.

Those who entered and supported this year's effort are to be congratulated. The floats were of a very high quality. The civic minded businesses such as the Sugar Co-op, Quaker Oats and Royals who donated prize money to the parade are also to be commended for their fine community spirit.

The Christmas parade should not die. The concept of these unselfish women should not go in vain. They should be helped and encouraged by the entire community. Let's make next year's parade the biggest and best ever—with the entire community getting involved.

Here I go jumping from local to international again—but it looks as if somebody up in Washington is finally waking up.

Our ambassador to the United Nations, John Scali, said it on the line the other day. If the United Nations doesn't shape up, United States just might slip out. Of course, he didn't say it exactly like that.

I think the official term was that we would "reassess" our role in the United Nations. The U.S. is only footing 25 per cent of the bill of that organization. Yet all of our friends keep getting kicked around, like Israel, and South Africa. And, oh yes, let's not forget the dearly departed Taiwan.

Let us hope the ambassador's speech was not just a rhetorical coverup. The time came a long time ago for us to pull out at the United Nations.

The money we spend there would be better spent taking care of our own rather than the rest of the world.

help, please get back, you're only making matters worse."

All this time, while the Raiders were on the field, waiting to receive the final kickoff of the game, there wasn't a Chaminade player or an official on the gridiron.

That was a good move on the part of Chaminade coach Vince Zappone and the officials. Coach Zappone obviously didn't want his players involved in a dispute between Glades Central fans and the officials...and I want to stress no Chaminade players were involved.

And it would have obviously been unsafe for any of the officials to have come near the sideline. For the record, when play finally did resume, Rehr was on the other sideline for the first time that night.

So Chaminade finally took the field again to make an on-side kick (as were all their kickoffs that night) and the game played itself out.

That's when the eruption started on the far sideline and the Raider football team got themselves a piece of the action.

And that's when it became a full-blown riot, with injuries to fans and police officers (who were only doing their job to keep the peace), with vandalism reported, with sirens wailing, light-flashing cruisers racing to the scene and a police helicopter overhead spotlighting the situation.

So what happens next?

I think one lesson which should have been learned, is the necessity for keeping unauthorized spectators off the field.

Everytime I've covered a Raider game, and I've covered a few, there have been too many people on the sideline who had no business there.

Some of those people were at least partially responsible for what happened Friday night. They were directly involved in it.

As bad as the officiating was, and no matter who threw the first punch, that first incident wouldn't have happened if the fans had been in the bleachers.

Nor would these fans have received reinforcements from the bleachers if the sideline hadn't been readily accessible, and the sideline is even more accessible at a Raider home game.

A high fence and well-policed gates would have at least contained the violence. They would also keep small children off the field...children who could get hurt during the normal course of a game...children who have no business walking the sideline.

In the meantime, what do you tell the players? What do you say about an "activity" supposedly teaching sportsmanship and fair play when they get cheated during the game?

I don't know. Maybe there isn't an answer. As Glades Central Assistant Principal Effie Grear said later, there must be justice somewhere. Maybe there is.

But there was no justice Friday night at South Broward High School's football stadium.

The girls are finally getting a whack at high school varsity sports.

And when I say whack, I mean it. You ought to see the batting arms of some of those girls on the Glades Central varsity softball team.

Softball is only one of the varsity sports the high schools have this year—they have already had a basketball season and they plan to have a track team, according to Graham Frost, the athletic director at Glades Central.

The female sports are supposed to have as much prominence as the male sports, but somehow I have a doubt about that.

Look at it this way. When you can only get one umpire for a girl's softball game, you're really hurting.

I know—it's happened to me before, in the Women's Softball League during the summer. It's especially hard on girls because they tend to dispute calls a little more than boys. Rather get a little more emotional.

Call it discrimination or whatever you want, but it's just plain fact.

Poor Graham Frost, who had to umpire the game between the Glades Central and the Atlantic team, came in for his share of criticism from both teams I imagine, although I heard more from the Raider side, mostly because I stood over on that side towards the end of the game.

Graham did a good job for only one umpire, although there were some calls I would've made differently, but only because I was right at the base when it happened. When you think about it, if I had been umpiring from homeplate for all the bases, I probably would've called them the same way he did.

Anyway, even though the "Raiderettes" (as I like to call them, I couldn't think of a name for the Atlantic girls, somehow "Eagle-ettes" didn't seem to fit) do have a great team for their first year of existence, and Linda Marshall has done a good job of coaching them.

They really come on strong in the first few innings but they have one fault that sets them back some. When things are going bad—whether they're behind the other team or some of the girls make mistakes in fielding or hitting the ball, a few of the others criticize her instead of encouraging her to try harder.

Maybe they don't realize it, but it can really destroy a player's morale, especially if that mistake proves costly enough to lose the game, as a couple of mistakes did the other day.

I was lucky—I always played on a team where the older and more experienced players helped me find out what I was doing wrong (they're still helping me too).

But that's one of the main ingredients of a good team—softball, football, basketball, whatever—is for the players to work together as a team and help each other.

Like I said, Glades Central has a darn good team, but, (and Coach Linda Marshall agrees with me), they have a couple of problems working as a team. Once they get that straightened out, nobody will be able to beat them.

Raiders lose playoff 15-13 as violence erupts

The Glades Central Raiders were upset by a fighting band of Chamblade Lions in the regional SAAA State Playoffs at South Broward High in Hollywood.

The Raiders hopes were dashed in the final 15 seconds of the game when Chamblade's senior placekicker Tom Sexton kicked a 26 yard field goal to give the Lions a 15-13 victory. It was a heart-breaking loss for the high flying Raiders as they had battled from 6-0 deficit, and then a 12-7 deficit in the third quarter.

The Raiders and their fans were so frustrated the Raider fans spilled out on the playing field after the field goal was signaled good.

It took some 15 minutes to restore order so the last 15 seconds of the game could be completed.

Once again after the final horn had sounded, angry Raider fans spilled out on to the field to attack the game officials.

This time it took the Hollywood police some 30 minutes to restore order but it was no help for the Raiders as they had been eliminated from the state play offs.

Things started off bad for the Raiders as they took the opening kick off on their own 44 yardline and promptly fumbled the ball.

The alert Chamblade defense recovered the ball on the Raider 45 yardline. After halfback Joe Kempe circled his own left end for 14 yards plus a personal foul penalty big Bob Massucco found a big hole up the middle and raced for 25 yards for the touchdown.

The Raider defensive line rose up and blocked the try for the extra point.

The Raiders took the next on side kick on the Chamblade 46 yardline. Three plays later Johnny Rutledge hit senior Hudall Collie with a 24-yard pass and Hudall raced in the end zone for a 48-yard touchdown.

David Kinslaw callily kicked the extra point and the Raiders took the lead 7-0.

Late in the first quarter the Raiders fumbled a punt on the Raider 36 yardline. Once again the alert Lions recovered the football.

Four plays later fullback Bob Massucco broke over right guard for 34 yards and a touchdown. Chamblade went for the two point conversion but the pass was knocked down and the Raiders trailed at halftime 12-7.

Nathan team was able to move the ball back in the third quarter as the Raider defense tightened up considerably. But late in the third quarter after a Dicky Sweet punt had put the Lions on their own 18-yardline, the Raider defense held for downs and then junior Tackle Ernest Jackson blocked a Lion punt which senior and Corral Brown picked up on the seven yardline and raced in for the touchdown giving the Raiders a 12-12 lead. Raiders went for two points but Johnny Rutledge's pass was knocked down in the end zone and the Raiders had a 13-12 lead.

The Raiders started a drive that took them to the Lion 42 yardline as the third quarter ended. Altering Alexander Brown up the middle and Howard Moses and Anthony Burger over left tackle the Raiders drove to the Lion eight yard line.

But the Raiders were detected holding and having an illegal lineman down field on the next two plays and the ball was placed on the 88 yardline, one more play cost the Raiders another five yards and Senior Dicky Sweet punted the ball into the endzone on fourth down.

Once again it was Raider mistakes that kept Chamblade's drive alive as the Raiders drew a personal foul penalty, an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty and finally a defensive pass interference call. The latter penalty placed the ball on the Raider 14 yardline.

After three plays the Lions' had lost two yards to set the stage for Tom Sexton's 26 yard field goal to win the game. Alexander Brown, Howard Moses and Anthony Burger led the Raider attack. Alexander rushed for 47 yards in 14 carries. He was followed by Howard Moses with 45 yards in five plays and Anthony Burger with 30 yards in 6 carries. Johnny Rutledge hit on two of 11 passes for 66 yards and one touchdown.

Defensively the Raiders had their problems stopping the clock-like machine of the Lion offense.

Raider roundball team fast, experienced—McDonald

With four returning lettermen, Glades Central High School basketball coach Willie McDonald said he expects the team to "make a good run for the conference title."

McDonald said the team to host for the 1974 season will apparently be North Shore, which also has four returning lettermen.

"I expect to have a quick team," the roundball coach said. "I'm looking to give North Shore a run for its money and we're also looking for the district."

Until this week, McDonald has been coaching both the varsity and the junior varsity teams, filling in with the jayvees for Coach Jay Seider, who has been occupied with football through last Friday.

The varsity coach said he has also had to wait until the past Monday for two of his four returning starters, David Jones and Randall Collier. He said of total of five basketball players were also playing football.

Last year, Jones was all-conference, honorable mention all-region. The 6'4" player scored a total of 312 points for the season and pulled in 368 rebounds. He averaged 18.6 points a game.

The other three starters who played last year were 6'6" Mike Bloomaker, Rodall Collier and Charles Cannon.

"I'm also looking forward to help from three players who came up from last year's undefeated jayvee team," McDonald said. "They are William Likely, Hayward Bryant and Ardeli Daudin."

He said the three backup board men are Richard Thompson, Michael Pringle and Reginald Fitzgerald. He said another strong backup man will be Alexander Brown.

Glades Central will host its first Christmas tournament Dec. 20-21, inviting Pahokee, Jupiter and Suncoast for the two-days of basketball.

The Raiders will be blooded Friday night for the first time in the 1974 season, opening against Jupiter at Jupiter, then will play Lely High at home Saturday.

The jayvee team will play the same dates, beginning their games at 6:30 while the varsity begins at about 8:30 p.m. The next play will be in the tournament and then the team will take a short rest before resuming the schedule Jan. 3.

McDonald said one thing that's helped him get his varsity teams into a winning frame of mind is the caliber of ball they've played on the jayvee and freshman teams.

The jayvee team was undefeated and untied last year and lost only two games the year before that, McDonald credited Coach Seider as both the jayvee coach and as the assistant coach for the varsity team.

He said the freshmen team, coached by Bruce Huff, lost only one game last year.

carries while halfback Joe Kempe rushed for 96 yards in 17 carries and Steve Rohwender rushed for 73 yards in 18 carries.

Quarterback John Crisley hit on four of eight passes good for 60 yards.

The Raiders were out-first downed 16-11 but had 18 penalties called against them for 155 yards while Chamblade had three penalties for 28 yards.

It was a sudden and bitter end for 22 seniors who had compiled a 9-0-1 record and a Suncoast West Conference Championship.

Seniors who played their last game were Rigo Ruiz, Bernard Hammond, Michael Washington, Norman Smith, Anthony Parrish, James Stinson, Willie Wright, Hector Velez and Alexander Brown, all offensive or defensive linemen.

Senior linemen were Calvin Willis, Dicky Sweet, Charles Ford, Allen Eise, Clark Lloyd, Rodall Collier, Charles Small, Cornelius Brown and David Jones.

David Jones, Calvin Willis, and Anthony Parrish led the team in tackling while Bruce Rimes, Charles Small and Rodall Collier had six each. Cornelius Brown and Ernest Jackson had four tackles.

Kennedy family to benefit by party

The Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office Annual Christmas Party will be for the benefit of the John D. Kennedy family, Sheriff William R. Heidman announced this week.

Heidman asked assistance from all Palm Beach County residents to aid this benefit to help the family of Officer Kennedy, who was slain while on duty in Delray Beach Aug. 10.

The benefit party is open to the public and Heidman requested all county residents help to make this holiday season as joyous as possible for the Kennedy family.

Anyone wishing to make donations of monies, gifts, food or beverages, or volunteer services, should contact his office at 883-7481, Ext. 277 or 278. Money gifts should be made payable to the John D. Kennedy Memorial Christmas Fund.

Throughout the party, to be held at the Boynton Beach Woman's Club at 1110 S. Federal Highway in Boynton Beach, a "silent auction" will be conducted to raise additional funds for the Kennedy family, which includes his widow, Linda and Dawn, 15 Jean, 11 Ann, 10 John, 7 and Paul, 4.

A baby is expected sometime in mid-January. The party will be held from 8 p.m. to midnight on Dec. 20 and tickets are available through the Sheriff's Office at a cost of $5 per couple.

It was said that when Plato was a baby a swarm of bees alighted on his mouth, and in consequence his words flowed with the sweetness of honey.

possibly be prohibited from playing even regular season sanctioned games but he said that hasn't happened for a long time.

Everyone contacted agreed the incident was born out of frustration on the part of Glades Central fans over a series of questionable penalty calls made in the closing minutes of the game.

The Raiders were given three 15-yard penalties in succession after they had reached the Chaminade six-yard line with approximately three minutes left in the game.

The Glades Central team was leading 13-12 at the time and the penalties took away any chance the Raiders had of adding to their lead. With approximately two minutes left on the clock, Chaminade was brought from midfield to the point the winning field goal was kicked from by a pass interference call.

While officials were trying the clear the field of Chaminade fans who had rushed out to congratulate the Chaminade team, a pushing match on the Raider 20-yard line between official Robert Reher and Glades Central Dean of Boys Charles Todd wound up with the official striking Todd, providing the trigger for the violence which followed.

With 15 seconds left on the clock, play was stalled for some time as Chaminade players and officials left the field but violence broke out again after play was resumed and the game had ended.

During the time out, Miami Dolphin Coach Don Schula, whose son, David, plays for Chaminade, joined police officers in attempting to restore calm as members of the Raider team attempted to clear the field.

Police weren't evident in force until the second incident was well underway.

Several Belle Glade residents at the game recounted what they considered to be questionable behavior on the part of the officials at the game.

One person said he overheard one of the officials advising the Chaminade quarterback just before the first half ended to not put the ball in play but allow the time to run out.

As the game progressed, several people along the Glades Central sideline were overheard commenting on the officiating to various officials.

Rehr, who was involved in the pushing match, was the only official chosen by the activities association who doesn't live in Miami. His home, according to a letter to McCurdy from Lay, was listed as Fort Lauderdale.

County, city join forces on dog control

The problem of animal control could prove less of a problem over the next half year as Belle Glade joins forces with the county in a mutual effort.

"The City Commission decided during its regular meeting Monday to work with the Palm Beach County Department of Animal Regulation following a presentation by director Earl L. Driggers.

For the next six months, Driggers will be using the city animal pound in conjunction with the city, providing all the expenses, as a holding area for all animals picked up in the Glades.

He said he would also like to supply more services to the Glades, saying he already has one officer working in the western part of the county and would like to have three in the area some time in 1975.

"It would also be my desire," he said, "to institute some kind of an adoption facility. That would be desirable out here."

Mayor Aubrey Farmer said he agreed with Driggers, "but what we don't like is the idea of the county coming out here and picking up dogs in the city." Driggers said he wasn't trying to impose his wishes on the commission but was offering the city a general plan which the commission could accept or reject.

"I would like to give you some more services," he said. "You don't have very much service now but if you're satisfied, okay."

Police Chief Charles Goodlett, who is also in charge of the city's animal shelter, endorsed Driggers' plan. "I think they have a good program," Goodlett said. "We haven't had any problem with animal control officers since this gentleman has been in charge. We have a real animal problem and we can't handle it without their help."

Goodlett said he would like to see the animals picked up in the city, held in the city for at least 48 hours, then sent on to suggest the city set up an agreement on a six month trial basis.

The commission authorized Goodlett and City Manager William Mallory to work out the details with Driggers.

THE SOUNDS OF CHRISTMAS WERE GIVEN SPECIAL MEANING
by the voices of the GCI Choir, led by Chaplain John Davenport.

motorcycles were the hit of the Third Annual Christmas Parade, according to parade organizer Mrs. Lynette Thompson, although they also drew some criticism.

"The reason I organized the parade," Mrs. Thompson said, "last this year and last year, was for the kids and they really enjoyed the motorcycles."

"So did I," she admitted. "When they only they wanted to be in the parade, I thought they were going to just ride along in line. I didn't know they were going to do all these things."

"All these things" was a continuing revving up of small engines as the motorcycles roared down the street, performing wheelies and other stunts, before slowing to turn back for another clattering ride.

The riders, sponsored by the Sheriff's Auxiliary and led by Michael Mills and Thurman Kemp, filled the air with the sound of heated oil and the machine's exhaust as the delight of kids along the line of march, adding their own "sound of Christmas."

"We hope the parade served two purposes," she said, "that everyone enjoyed either participating in it or watching it. Secondly, that it served as the kickoff for the Christmas shopping season with some people shopping at home than ever before."

She said she had been told by merchants Saturday was the busiest shopping day so far this Christmas season.

The Children's Home Society sponsored by Pioneer Hardware, led the paraders in the children, Christmas and seasonal category, winning a $150 check donated by the Sugar Cane Growers Cooperative of Florida.

St. Peter's Lutheran School's entry, sponsored by Averitt's Oil Shop, won the $100 second prize donated by Royals and the Church of God entry, sponsored by Butterfield Pavers Channel, won the $75 third prize donated by Quaker Oats.

Mrs. Thompson said the parade committee was disappointed that the streets weren't cleared and blocked off during the parade.

"The people out in the street on Avenue A," she said, "posed a real problem. Several times the parade had to stop and wait for the people to be asked to move back out of the street. I hope this problem can be worked out before next year's parade."

In the business route, Royal's was first place, second was captured by Glades Correctional Institution and the Army

Camporee set for weekend

A camporee expected to be the biggest scouting activity this year in the Glades will take place at Fort Maynes this weekend.

Members of ten troops from Clewiston to Canal Point are expected to participate in the annual Glades Camporee, Camporee according to Glades District representative Tom Pineson.

Pineson said the camporee will begin Friday afternoon and last through Sunday noon and will include competition in two areas and an Order of the Arrow tapout.

The main events will occur Saturday, with the scouts beginning the day at 7 a.m. with breakfast.

By 9:30, they will be involved in craft competition, including tent raising, egg boiling, first aid, flagpole raising, knot tying and canoeing competition.

After dinner, the scouts have invited their parents to watch "fun competition" as members of the ten troops vie in tent peg making, plate tossing, a water bucket relay, softball throwing, a tug-of-war and more.

The "game" will end the daytime activities and after-dark activities will be highlighted by an Order of the Arrow tapout as the order selects new members by the light of a campfire.

The scouts will also be using the camporee as a backdrop for storytelling and singing.

The individual troops will take part in religious services, singing, singing and Pineson said they will be moving shortly after noon.

The camporee will take place at the Ben Hill Griffin farm on SR76 approximately two miles east of the Trading Post. Pineson said the entrance to the farm is next to the new section of the Fort Maynes Cemetery and signs will be posted to help the scouts and scouts find their way.

Lake Shore carnival plans laid

A winter carnival will be held at Lake Shore Elementary School from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday.

The carnival, which will serve both the winter season and Christmas, is a fund-raising event being put on by the Lake Shore Elementary Parent Teachers Organization.

A PTO spokesman said the carnival would feature an appearance by Santa Claus and a snow machine to give Glades youngsters some idea of what it's like to have a white Christmas...even if it is temporary and in a small area.

Ready; heave!!

The driver of this fertilizer truck had time to cool off last week after attempting to pass another truck on SR86. FHP Trooper B.W. Wilson said driver Nathaniel

Smith, 51, of Belle Glade was uninjured in the incident when he struck the truck ahead of him, lost control, and plumed through the guardrail

Former resident scores first

Mrs. Mary Eleanor Wall, the daughter of Ralph W. Kidder of 140 S.E. Fifth St., recently became the first woman Democratic member ever elected to the Du Page County Commission in a suburban area west of Chicago.

She is the niece of Mrs. Ruth Wedgworth and Mrs. N.T. Taylor, both of Belle Glade.

When she was elected to her four-year term on Nov. 5, Mrs. Wall also became the second Democrat ever to serve on the Du Page County Board in a predominantly Republican area.

Du Page County, Ill. has a population of more than a half million residents and is governed by a county board legislature of 25 members. Mrs. Wall is also a Du Page County Forest Preserve Commissioner.

Miller to speak

A Vegetable Growers Coffee will be held at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Bryant Auditorium of the Glades Office Building featuring Leon Miller of A. Duda & Sons of Oviedo as the main speaker.

Miller will speak on water quality and management, according to Palm Beach County Extension Agent John Conroy.

Conroy said daisies and coffee will be served.

League wants to stop napiergrass fraticide

Members of the Florida Sugar Cane League aren't ordinarily interested in fratricide but there is one case that hits them where it hurts...in the pocketbook.

The problem is Napiergrass, known by many as maidencane, and its tendency to crowd out its cousin, sugar cane. The league has become interested enough to begin a Napiergrass eradication program.

Harry Samol, the league's entomologist who has been given the job of coordinating the effort, said he is approaching not only league members, but other farmers, public agencies, railroads and anyone else who owns land harboring napiergrass.

Samol said the grass can't be eradicated, or even effectively controlled, by one landowner when the landowner next to him does nothing.

He said the grass hits sugar cane growers in a number of ways and cited a paper presented by Dr. Joseph Orenigio in 1970 which showed "substantial reductions in sugar cane production where napiergrass was established in the field."

Production was highest where there were few napiergrass stools and lowest in fields with heavy infestations.

Samol said any increase in sugar production in the Glades will come from producing more sugar per acre since additional good land is scarce. He said one way of increasing tonnage per acre is to eliminate napiergrass and other weeds.

The weed causes two kinds of problems concerned with burning off the cane. When it's green, it burns poorly and can give a bad burn, leaving a lot of trash on the cane. But when napiergrass has been dried out by a freeze, it burns too well and can cause a fire jump.

One problem getting worse every year is connected with the growing use of mechanical harvesters. Laborers know enough to leave the napiergrass and cut the cane but a machine isn't that selective.

If a harvester is cutting seed cane, and life operator can't avoid a stool of grass, it will be cut, loaded and planted along with the cane, causing further infestation.

One of the problems is that, as eradicating napiergrass is that, as with most weeds, it's extremely tough and hardy, being resistant to cold, extreme heat and other natural extremes.

Sugar cane, on the other hand, is like other grasses which have been domesticated. Like wheat and corn, sugar cane has been bred with an eye toward getting the most sucrose possible out of it at the expense of hardiness.

Samol said the cooperative effort to rid the area of napiergrass will probably include four lines of attack: flooding, mowing or chopping, grating and chemical. He said mowing is one way to at least control the weed.

He said a chemical called Roundup is the best herbicide developed so far for killing the grass. Unfortunately, it's also the most expensive and is so new it hasn't been cleared to use in agricultural fields or on waterways yet.

All this would limit its use, where the user can afford it, to roadways and railroad tracks.

Samol said napiergrass is so tough, an unsuccessful experiment was performed to try to crossbreed sugar cane with the weed, hopefully to arrive at a cane variety with lots of sucrose which could withstand extremes that kill normal cane.

"One of the things we have in the planning stages now," Samol said, "is to set up an experimental plot of napiergrass somewhere so the public can see it, which would demonstrate different kinds of control."

He said an ideal place for the experiment would be on US27 between South Bay and Clewiston.

Christmas cantata

A Christmas cantata will be presented by the choir of the Community United Methodist Church under the direction of Mrs. Esther Wenger on Friday night, Dec. 13 at 9:30 p.m. The cantata, by John W. Peterson, entitled, "Joy to the World!", incorporates the traditional Christmas music.

Shown above with Mrs. Wenger (first row on left) are Mrs. Randall Parsons, Larry Ott, Charles Schoenfeld, Earl Lindroos Jr. and Milton Carpenter, the cantata soloists. Mrs. Karen Corbin is the organist and Earl Lindroos Jr. is the narrator. The community is invited to attend.

"Motivation for Ministry"

Dr. James B. Baskirk, professor of Evangelism at the Graduate School of Theology, Emory University, will lead the evangelistic mission called "Motivation for Ministry" at the Community United Methodist Church Sunday through Tuesday, Dec. 15-17.

The Rev. Jimmy Baskirk makes his home in the mountains of Georgia with his wife and two children.

As a minister Jimmy Baskirk can be described as an enthusiastic messenger for God. His well organized missions are arranged to fit any age group. He may be seen at one moment speaking to the senior citizens and a little later, sitting on the floor sharing with a youth group.

He is a man involved with people, their problems and their opportunities. He has touched the hearts of many during his sermons at Jacksonville, Leesburg, and St. Petersburg Methodist rallies.

AT HOME

Kangaroo mamas have one advantage over "human" mamas: their crib is "built-in." There's no need for them to dash around the house to give Junior tender loving care. He is always nearby, located quite conveniently for mother's attention.

...Any mother's attention is crucial in providing a child with the religious foundations needed to produce a responsible adult. Enough freedom so that he can be independent enough discipline to provide structure for his life. And moral precepts instilled by the Church and parental example.

...One day Junior will outgrow mama's pouch or crib. Then, and only then, can parents know if they have been successful.

Services held for Arietha Resmondo

Funeral services were held Monday for Mrs. Arietha Imogene Resmondo at the Chosen Missionary Baptist Church in Belle Glade.

Glade with the Rev. James Duncan, of the church officiating. Mrs. Resmondo died Friday in Glades General Hospital.

She was born Feb. 17, 1904 at Daphne, Ala. and came to Belle Glade in 1966 from Miami. She made her home at 498 S.E. Fourth Street North and was a member of the Chosen Missionary Baptist Church of Belle Glade.

Survivors include her mother, Mrs. Elmer Thomas of Baldwin County, Ala.; five sons, Kenneth Resmondo, Woody Resmondo and Jack Resmondo, all of Belle Glade, and Noah Resmondo of Vidalia, Ga. and Frank Resmondo, of Oklawaha; three daughters, Mrs. Ruby Richardson of Miami, Mrs. Margaret Towers of San Antonio, Tex. and Mrs. Lucille Minton of West Palm Beach; three brothers, L.D. Thomas, Herbert Thomas and Jim Thomas, all of Foley, Ala.; six sisters, Mrs. Dorothy Vick, Mrs. Lucan Kinney, Mrs. Minnie Resmondo, all of Foley, Ala.; Mrs. Ardis Donald of Atlanta, Ga.; Mrs. Marion Phipps and Mrs. Neely Roberts, both of Alabama; 23 grandchildren and 16 great grandchildren.

Burial was in Port Mayaca Cemetery in Martin County. Misses Funeral Home was in charge of arrangements.

The Parson Pontificates

While the music systems rang out over all the towns the exciting strains of "Here Comes Santa Claus", "Jingle Bells," and other Christmas songs, a couple of ladies were completely enraptured with the Christmas spirit at the shopping center. As they went shopping from store window to store window, they admired the tinsel, the candles, the fancy wrappings, and the colorful lights. They just loved Christmas! They saw a multitude of things that no one needs, but would make such wonderful Christmas presents. There was so much to choose from, they hardly knew what to buy.

But there was a store that had signs in the window advertising its Christmas bargains. As they looked out the store boys, they came across a most unusual sign. They both saw it at once, and could hardly believe their eyes. It said, "This year, keep Christ in Christmas. Attend the Church of your choice." They looked in amazement for a moment, and one of them exclaimed, "Isn't that just like the Church of Christ? They are trying to keep us in Christmas!" [Read St. Matthew 1:21]

GCI EMPLOYEES COMPLETE TRAINING
...John P. Hunter and Roosevelt Perkins

GCI employees complete training

Two employees of Glades Correctional Institution recently received degrees for completing a 100-hour residential training program at the Correctional Training Institute in Raiford.

The Florida Correctional Reform Act of 1974 created an additional 25 Classification specialist positions to provide a mechanism for early identification, evaluation and treatment of behavioral disorders of adult offenders coming into contact with the adult system.

The training program was designed to provide 100 graduates with the necessary skills and abilities to effectively implement the act.

John P. Hunter and Roosevelt Perkins graduated from the course. They will also receive nine credit hours at Ocala Community College.

Following the initial 160 hours of instruction, the two employees will also take another 100-hour course, totaling 300 hours of instruction in Correctional Administration, Inmate Classification and Human Relations.

Stealing rises as prices get higher

Stealing rises when prices go up and employment goes down, and this Christmas shopping season merchants will be well prepared to meet the anticipated invasion of their stores by a record of would-be shoplifters, a security specialist notes.

"One of the symptoms of amateurs who steal on impulse, many of them retreating the very last year except around holiday time," says Mr. Stephen Batson, West Palm Beach, branch manager of Burns International Security Services, Inc.

"With double-digit inflation and high unemployment, the stealing impulse is almost certain to become overwhelming with many more people."

"To complicate matters, the growing ranks of youthful alcoholics and drug addicts also will be on the prowl to pick up merchandise to sell to feed their habits."

As a result, store security forces are being beefed up by the strongest points ever, he adds. The Burns official believes records should also be set in shoplifting arrests since retailers cannot afford to see their margins erode through heavy inventory losses and will be more inclined than ever to already up 15 per cent over last year.

He warns retailers to accept checks only for the amount of purchase and above all, not to cash any for strangers in a hurry. Passers usually open bank accounts for small amounts and write checks for 10 times the sum.

"They'll buy merchandise with the worthless paper and return for cash refunds, usually on Saturday when banks are closed and can't be checked."

A note of caution, too, for shoppers:

Don't lay packages on counters while making purchases or leave credit cards on the cashier's desk. Package and card snatches will be off and running before you're aware of the larceny.

Aluminum unit to be in

Belle Glade

Reynolds' mobile aluminum recycling unit will be in Belle Glade four times during December to pay the public 15 cents per pound for aluminum scrap. In this category are all-aluminum cans, pie pans, foil, frozen food trays, siding from lawn chairs stripped of all webbing and bolts and a variety of containers used in the kitchen.

Every THURSDAY from 12:30 p.m. till 2 p.m., the unit will be at City Park, 500 W. Canal St. Belle Glade Citizens earned $2,179.05 last month, for a total of 14,527 pounds.

According to David P. Reynolds, executive vice president and general manager for Reynolds Metals Co., since the initiation of the company's recycling program, more than $16 million have been paid to the public for all-aluminum items.

In the process, he said, almost six billion cans have been recycled, diverted from the litter and solid waste stream. Last year, Reynolds recycled about 25 per cent of the cans it produced.

Floridians are presently recycling all-aluminum cans at the rate of better than one million pounds per month, said Paul Hayden, Reynolds' regional recycling manager.

Ten-cent Xmas stamps on sale

Two 10-cent traditional Christmas postage stamps are presently on sale at the Belle Glade post office.

This year's Christmas Masterpiece stamp is based upon a detail from "The Perseus Altarpiece," a large oil painting which hangs in the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York. Designer of the stamp is Bradbury Thompson of Riverside, Connecticut.

The stamp features an angel taken from the central of the five panels making up the large altarpiece painting. The angel is one of the two in the central panel is depicted in flight on either side of the upright portion of the cross that dominates the panel.

The identity of the artist who painted the altarpiece is unknown. The painting is known to have been done in 1490, although it is not known where it was hung upon completion.

The second Christmas stamp is taken from an 1888 lithographic print, "The Road Winter," by the firm Currier and Ives. The drawing was done on the lithography stone by Otto Reisch, one of the celebrated American artists Nathaniel Currier employed to produce drawings that were to be colored on an assembly line of girls, each of whom applied a single color.

The stamp was designed by Steven Dobson of Westport. The design shows a man and a woman in a horse-drawn sleigh moving through a wintry landscape.

Thank you

We wish to thank all our friends for the kindnesses shown us during our recent illness and Mr. Hancock's stay in the hospital: to those who gave fruit and flowers, cards and phone calls, acts of kindness and loving prayers, we offer our heartfelt thanks. To the Rev. Randall Parsons and the Rev. Richard Wilson, God bless you for your faithfulness and spiritual ministry and your morale building. To Louis Amerine and Steve McKinley, for life-sustaining blood, "the Lord bless thee and keep thee". God love you all.

Dateline History

Security leak in Congress?

By Jerome Turk and Edward Walsh

WATERTOWN, MASS., Dec. 10, 1974—On the move since its formation at Salem in October, the Provincial Congress of Massachusetts adjourned here today for the last time—game to fight, but only if British Gen. Thomas Gage comes out of Boston on the attack.

Intimidated away from Cambridge three days ago by the booming salute cannon of a large British fleet in Boston Harbor, the Provincial Congress is going ahead with plans to raise an army of 12,000 and to call on other New England colonies for 20,000 more.

The Congress has authorized collection of pork, flour, rice, spades, shovels, mess-bowls, hoes, cannons and ball at Worcester and Concord. Its acts are sure to be declared treasonable in London.

And now, as the Provincial Congress adjourns, it leaves most of the responsibility in the hands of its powerful Committee of Safety, chaired by John Hancock but in reality directed by a 38-year-old Boston physician. He is Dr. Joseph Warren. Among his agents and couriers are another physician, the witty Dr. Benjamin Church and the staunch silversmith, Paul Revere.

There is one problem that could ruin patriot plans. The secrecy-shrouded Committee of Safety may have a security leak. Dr. Warren is desperately trying to find it. Although Boston is sealed off, Gage always seems to know of Committee activities.

"We'll not use our positions as correspondents to find your spy for you," my colleague Turk insisted during a brief interview with Dr. Warren yesterday afternoon.

"I've never asked anyone to jeopardize his integrity," answered the handsome, broad-shouldered, blond-haired doctor, who was the author of the famed Suffolk Resolves. "All I'm asking is that you carry a warning message to Revere in Boston. That is, if you still plan to interview General Gage. I don't think you can get into the city without our help."

"Don't be so self-righteous," I said to Turk. "You and your confounded integrity! We're both sympathetic to the patriot cause and you know it; yet we've never lifted a finger to help. A lot of good men may soon die for the cause. If you won't carry the message, I'll do it alone."

"No, you won't," Turk replied. "I'll go, too." With that bland look of his, he lapsed into silence, puffing on a clay pipe. I'll never be sure if his gesture was made out of sentiment for me, for the cause, or for the chance to interview General Gage. Most likely the latter.

Dr. Warren broke the silence, his eyes leveled on me, so seriously that I felt uncomfortably self-righteous myself. "The mistress we court," he said softly, "is liberty. It is better to die than not to obtain her."

Virtually all preparations for war are now in the hands of this man. That's a paradox, because his nature is compassionate and his art is that of the healer. As many as 20 patients a day visit him at his practice in Boston. He has maintained a grinding professional and political schedule, even after the death of his wife Elizabeth last April and having to look after their four children himself.

Adversity is no stranger to Warren. He was just 14 when his father died after a fall from a ladder, in the family orchard at Roxbury. Graduating 25th in a class of 35 at Harvard in 1759, Warren financed his apprenticeship to Boston's Dr. James Lloyd, by deeding two-fifths of the Roxbury farm.

Almost immediately on opening his Boston practice in 1763, the young physician heroically fought a ravaging smallpox epidemic that lasted eight months. Thanks to the inoculations administered by Warren and other physicians who encouraged the practice, the toll of life was not nearly so dreadful as in past epidemics. Of 889 patients not inoculated, 124 died. Of the 4,977 inoculated, only 46 perished.

Dr. Joseph Warren is prepared to sacrifice everything—practice, home and life—for freedom's sake.

Turk himself later said about Warren, "He's one of those men whose memory stays with you."

It was the first thing we agreed upon all day.

Dr. Fliehs to attend seminar

Dr. Donald A. Fliehs, of Belle Glade, has been appointed as liaison coordinator for this area for the 52nd Annual Southern Educational Congress of Optometry to be held in Atlanta, Feb. 14-18.

The meeting registered nearly 3,400 persons, largest attendance ever reported at an optometric meeting anywhere, when held last February. Some 45 states were represented.

The local optometrist has been appointed to represent the Congress in this area in helping provide information and assistance in expediting arrangements for those planning to attend.

Thirty-seven optometrists and six ophthalmologists will present 114 hours of lectures at the 1975 Congress. Headlining the program will be Dr. Irvin M. Borish, Indiana University School of Optometry; David Miller, Harvard Medical School; and Robert B. Mandell, University of California School of Optometry.

Among the highlights of the program will be the presentation of awards to the South's Optometrist of the Year and the non-optometrist chosen for the Award of Merit, highest honor bestowed by the Southern Council of Optometrists, sponsor of the event.

IF YOU CAR POOL

Many parents and high school students choose to forget the school bus and form car pools to handle their transportation chores. Naturally there are safety precautions to take but there are other considerations too.

For instance, most lawyers would probably advise against the driver taking money on a regular basis from his riders. It could change the legal relationship that exists between driver and passengers, making the "guest" relationship of the riders and opening the driver to "negligence" lawsuits in case of an accident.

It is also a good idea for pool participants to have enough insurance to cover an accident. Experts would advise at least $100,000 liability insurance for an individual claim and $300,000 for total injuries for a single crash. The premium increase is only slightly more.

Opera plans

The Junior Opera Guild Educational Program Committee Members met recently with Palm Beach County School Board members to make plans for a special performance of "Hansel and Gretel" to be presented by the Civic Opera of the Palm Beaches to be held at the West Palm Beach Auditorium free to the Palm Beach County Public School Children on March 18, 1975. The Palm Beach County School Board is most cooperative in this endeavor. Going over plans for the upcoming free opera performance (left to right) Mr. Walter Locke, West Area Director; Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, South Area Director; Mrs. Wayne Kuga, Junior Opera Guild Usherettes Chairman. There will also be a free performance of "Hansel and Gretel" at the West Palm Beach Auditorium for the Palm Beach County Private School children on March 17, 1975.

Fifth anniversary celebrated

The month of November was a special month for Mu Upsilon Chapter Beta Sigma Phi as it was only five short years ago the chapter began. The Nov. 5th meeting was hosted by Marsha Oren with the program on "Understanding Love" presented by President Carol Zumpf.

Sonia Oldham hosted the meeting for Nov. 17 with Devote Biorini presenting a program on "Love and Marriage."

The chapter's Anniversary Progressive Dinner was the highlight of the month. The first stop was the home of the Oldhams on north Main St. for hors d'oeuvre and cocktails, and then on to the Thompsons on Sixth Drive for the main course with hot chili, tacos, Mexican vegetables and all the trimmings. The last stop was at the Zumpf home on S.E. Ave. J. for dessert and after-dinner drinks. The finale of the evening was the breaking of the piñata.

In five short years the fun gets more enjoyable with guests such as Mr. and Mrs.

Mike Zumpf, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Oren, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Shutte, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bailey, Mr. and Mrs. George Oldham, Aritha Keene, Nancy Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Varrall, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Stokes, Mrs. Grant Averill and guest Mr. Warren Ross.

WINTER THOUGHT

At least once during every winter season, when the wind is especially biting and the temperatures below freezing, the thought of George Washington and his troops at Valley Forge comes to mind. According to all accounts, this was a situation almost beyond imagination. Food and clothing were in short supply and sickness and disability were prevalent. At one time, according to Washington's own records, about one of every four men was unfit for duty. There were a few who deserted the camp for mere comfort, but the majority stayed and went on to win the war that made this an independent nation.

That terrible winter at Valley Forge was a long time ago and some rumors to us as we sit snugly warm in the comfort of well-heated homes. But let us occasionally think about the heroic efforts, the sufferings and deprivations of some of those that have made our great nation a reality and be thankful.

LP Gas saves you money

LP Gas will cook almost 2 meals with the same amount of original energy it takes to cook 1 meal electrically.

LP Gas will dry about three and one-half loads of clothes with the same amount of original energy it takes to dry 1 load electrically.

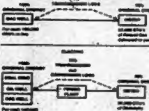

LP Gas will heat almost two and one-half gallons of water with the same amount of original energy it takes to heat 1 gallon electrically.

LP Gas comes to you straight-to-no inefficient conversion to another type of fuel. It's pure energy, in its cleanest, most efficient form. With gas 93 percent of the original energy comes into your home, ready for direct use in your gas appliances. So you can see, very little is used in delivery to you. On the other hand, around here, most electric power is generated from burning coal, and some oil and natural gas. And only about 28 percent of the original energy is delivered to you as electricity. Obviously, most of the original energy is lost when converted into electrical power. See chart below.

Students take part in March of Dimes

Six local students took part in a March of Dimes convention in Miami Nov. 29 and 30 to get information on setting up a Teen Action Program (TAP). Nancy Kelley, Debbie Sprinkle, Charlene Harris and Brenda Groves of Christian Day School and Roy Rogers and Willetta Walker of Glades Central High School represented the Glades at the convention.

The purpose of the organization will be to inform the public about birth defects by holding lectures and showing films. Other activities will be fund raising programs such as a walk-a-thon which will be held early in March.

March of Dimes Glades Advisory Committee Chairman Marjorie Echols will meet for the next two weeks with Glades Day, Christian Day, Glades Central and Pahokee High Schools to organize TAP clubs.

Dear Friends—

We would like to take this opportunity to thank all of our many friends who have, through their kind and selfless consideration, helped us through our period of grief brought about by the death of dearly beloved Mrs. Arletha Imogene Resmondo. There were so many flowers sent in her memory that not all of them would fit in the church. Many of them had to be taken directly to her grave site. Your response was overwhelmingly heartwarming. Words are not adequate for us to thank you properly.

Thank you
The Resmondo Family
